(서론)

I think it is good for students to participate in group activities. There are several reasons.

(본론)

First, students can get chances for socialization by participating in group activities.

For example, if you join a basketball club, it is an excellent opportunity to learn how to communicate with others through group activities. You can also learn how to win games in cooperation with other friends and make new friends.

Second, group activities also help to share information. When I was a student, I was involved in a group project. At that time, the team members were all students interested in marketing, and we shared various information as we prepared the project together. Also, by dividing the work, I was able to work more efficiently and save a lot of time.

(결론)
